The Year That Was

From conducting our activities offline to welcoming visitors to our centres, being recognized as a ‘Great Place to Work’ yet again to opening centres in Varanasi and Delhi, the year gone by brought in a sense of normalcy as life went back to what it was before the pandemic. We had an exciting year with a bunch of new initiatives and projects that ensured that ‘if cancer doesn’t stop, neither will we.’

Celebrating one year of insurance cover to Judians

St. Judes and Star Health and Allied Insurance recently marked the first anniversary of providing cover to children who were diagnosed and treated for cancer, under our programme - St. Judes for Life (Founded in Memory of Mrs. Rani Vicaji).

The initiative covered 326 children under Health and Accident in its first year, and now all 767 Judians are covered.

The initiative is an important milestone that focuses on a much-overlooked gap in health insurance coverage. The Rotary Club of Madras Temple City was instrumental in facilitating this association and continues to work for the welfare of the children at St. Judes. "At St Judes, we aim to ensure that timely and appropriate assistance is available to all Judians to empower them to complete their education, maintain good health, and lead successful lives. Providing them with health insurance and accident cover was a much-needed vital step in that direction. It enables them with a sense of security to lead a fulfilling life and work towards their goals and aspirations without any fear," said our CEO Anil Nair about this achievement.

Leadership camp for Judians in West Bengal

St. Judes For Life (Founded in Memory of Mrs. Rani Vicaji) - our vertical that supports cancer survivors (Judians) - conducted a three-day youth leadership camp in Kolkata in partnership with Yuva Urban Initiative (YUI).

Held in the first week of December, it saw participation from 25 Judians from West Bengal, all 18 years and above. This was the first offline interaction for Judians in the region and it helped them understand their skills and potential.

Dr. Soma De, DCH (Dy. Incharge-Paed) from Haematology & Paediatric Oncology Department, Saroj Gupta Cancer Centre & Research Institute, was the special guest at the event.
We recently invited local media to our Guwahati centres which celebrated its fourth anniversary. The two centres in Guwahati look after children of 12 families who are being treated at Dr. B Borooah Cancer Institute, Guwahati. Our Chairperson, Ms. Gargi Mashruwala, was also present at the event.
